Government of Mysore.

To

E.R.Subrayer Esquire, B.A.B.C.E., Comptroller of Mysore.

Sir,

Adverting to previous correspondence ending with your Memo No.6665 of 15th June last, regarding Mr.Molloy's pension, I have the honor to inform you that on a further representation of the case the Dewan has been pleased to reconsider the case and sanction the full amount of pension, Viz: ₹255 under Article 480 of the Civil Service Regulations which means that there should be no deduction whatever in his case on account of over-age under clause 321(a). Please therefore take early steps to make necessary corrections in the pension Roll and obtain the formal sanction of Government for the payment of the enhanced amount of pension now sanctioned. A copy of orders dated 3rd instant, passed by the Dewan on the case, is herewith forwarded for your information.

I have &c.

(Enc. to SRA 10 of 1901-02 Serial 1)

Copy of Dewan's order, dated 3rd instant, on this Office Note no: 48 dated 26th August 1901, regarding the pension of Mr A. J. Molloy.

"I decided to interfere in this matter as the matter had been already dealt with twice. But my attention has been called to some important and pertinent facts and I have therefore again very carefully considered this case, which I have no doubt is hard. Whatever may have been the operation of rules it is admitted that Mr Molloy has rendered continuous service of 20 years and when he began such service he came to it with a lot of practical experience gained elsewhere, the benefit of which he gave to his work in Mysore. I have not overlooked that Mr Molloy was fined Rs 1 with a heavy fine and as pointed out by the Examiner Public Works Accounts his contravention when employed in the Southern Mahratta

Mahratta Railway was levied and a more liberal scale than on British India. Mr Molloy was brought to Mysore service when much older than 30 but there was the same reservation of his practical Experience & the Government have enabled a first class up on important works since. Bearing in mind these circumstances, and having regard to opinion that the contribution paid when Mr Molloy was in the Great Mahratta Railway Service should not justify a deduction of period of service, I have come to conclusion that I should be justified in revising the order already passed in regard to these pension. There is obviously an undue waste of pension and what has been left after the deductions which have been made under the strict application of rules is disproportionately small to the emoluments which Mr

Molloy

Mollay was enjoying while in the office. His regard as an undue hardship which a just Government ought to remedy and in this view, and acting under the authority of Article 480 of the Service Regulations I sanction the pension to be raised to the full amount of 265 (two hundred and fifty five) rupees which is due to him without any deductions."
